Ms. Dukes, SACE and SCCCL have a single witness, and would give a similar estimate as Mr. Gissendanner in terms of how long it may take to enter that testimony and have the witness read his summary.

In addition, we will likely have limited cross for two or three witnesses but do not plan to cross the others. We share the hope that the hearing can be completed tomorrow.

We do not anticipate requiring a transcript.

Thank you.

Jerisha—

The Company is hopeful that the hearing will be able to start and finish tomorrow.

The Company has brief summaries for each witness and expects that it would take approximately 5-10 minutes per witness for the Company to enter the testimony and exhibits into the record and have the witness read his or her summary. The Company cannot estimate how long cross examination by other parties or questioning by the Commission may take.

At this time, the Company does not anticipate requiring a transcript. However, that could change depending on what transpires at the hearing.

Dear Counsel:

In preparation for tomorrow's hearing, please provide your party's anticipated timeframe to present your case? Even more generally, does any party anticipate that this hearing will carry over into Friday?

Also, for planning purposes, please advise if your party will require a transcript for this hearing.

Thank you all for your cooperation and attention to these matters.

In accordance with Commission practices and procedures, should you respond to this email, please remember to hit "reply all" so that there is no inadvertent, accidental ex parte communication in this Docket, regardless if such procedural communication may be exempt by statute.

With warm regards,
